The City of Haysville and the Haysville Police Department are pleased to announce the graduation of two new police officers from the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center, in Hutchinson, Kansas on January 15, 2016.

Officer Thomas Oldenettel has been with the Haysville Police Department since May 12, 2014. He previously held the position of Animal Control Officer until moving to the position of Patrol officer in September of 2015.

Officer Aaron Watkins began his employment with the Haysville Police Department on September 14, 2015. He comes to the Department after working as a warehouse manager for a company in Wichita. He was also a reserve police officer for several years with the City of Newton before applying in Haysville.

Both officers have successfully completed the 14 weeks of basic police training required by the State of Kansas to become a certified police officer. They will now begin the 14 week field training program where they will apply what they have learned to everyday situations. They will partner with a veteran officer and learn things such as paperwork completion and fine tune their officer safety skills.
