Motion by Parton - Second by Hancock

Move to approve the 2015 Closing Calendar as presented.

Aziere yea, Coleman yea, Hancock yea, Holub yea, Meyer yea, Parton yea, Randel yea.

Motion declared carried.

Under New Business Chairperson Tim Aziere presented the 2015 Review Calendar.

Secretary McHatton stated that the Calendar was not ready for approval, and wanted feedback for scheduling the next year of the Planning Commission. McHatton started with the Historic Master Plan review, and discussion followed regarding its inclusion. A consensus was reached that Historic Committee updates were adequate since the Planning Commission no longer reviewed the Historic Master Plan. McHatton stated that a Bicycle/Pedestrian Master Plan was in the draft stages, and would hopefully come before the Commission in the spring. Holub asked if there were any Federal guidelines. McHatton said no, and explained the process. He compared it to the Park Plan, and how the HAC composes the Plan, the Commission reviews and makes a recommendation, Council votes with the recommendation, and if approved it is added to the City's Comprehensive Plan. Chairperson Aziere said the emphasis for next year should be the Park Plan, because of the sales tax, and the Subdivision Regulations. A general discussion occurred, and the following items were reviewed and scheduled: Park Plan, Bike/Ped Plan, Subdivision Regulations, Zoning Code, Comprehensive Plan, and Land Use Map. McHatton said he would draft a calendar for approval at the next meeting.

Chairperson Tim Aziere asked if there was any Old Business.

McHatton stated that the City Council had reviewed, but tabled the Zoning Code recommendation. He noted the reason as needing more time to better evaluate the Code, and the proposed changes. McHatton said he could not guarantee, but thought they might send it back to Planning for further review of residential screening requirements, and possible limitations on inoperable vehicles and recreational vehicles. Hancock stated that when he was a County Commissioner they had similar problems. They said their solution was to require each vehicle to be tagged and registered. McHatton said he was not going to speculate what Council would decide, but wanted to give the Commission advance notice of the possibilities.

There was nothing under Correspondence and Informational Reading.

Chairperson Tim Aziere asked for Committee Updates.

Richard Meyer reported that progress had been made on Pear Tree Park. He said the old equipment had been removed, the grounds were being refabricated, and new equipment would be installed as soon as possible.

Debbie Coleman wanted to remind everyone that December 6th was the Village Christmas.

COUNTY, KANSAS. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated he received an email from Councilperson Steve Crum with questions. He stated the first question was regarding the requirement of a hard surface, except in the flood plain, which would only require an all-weather surface. He stated due to drainage requirements, Plagen's Carpenter would be a good example of why there would be an exception to the hard surface requirement. McHatton stated if a home were in the flood plain, they would be protected from the hard surface requirement as well.

The next question was regarding using the word easement rather than utility easements, regarding the requirement of hard and all-weather surfaces. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton reviewed the definition of an easement as stated in the Zoning Code. McHatton stated Planning Commission was referring to utility easements, which are typically, but not always in the back of a property. Crum stated there are several types of easements, so the wording should specify which specific types of easements are being referred to. McHatton stated Planning could be more specific. Mayor Bruce Armstrong clarified they were referring to the installation of all-weather surfaces. Crum stated he was referring to multiple places in the proposed changes which say easement, but not utility easement. McHatton stated in the definitions in the current Zoning Code utility easements are not individually defined. Crum stated he would like it changed for clarity.

Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated Crum's next question referred to parking a car/boat/trailer in a side or back yard and how a hard surface drive would be required to move said vehicle to that parking spot. McHatton stated Planning Commission had made changes after the redline document was posted, but because the public hearing had already been called, the redline document is what was required to be used for the purpose of the Ordinance, even though it is not the most recent document. McHatton stated "hard surface" had been changed to "all-weather surface" in subsequent drafts and was therefore added as an amendment to the proposed ordinance.

Councilperson Steve Crum stated the one item that most concerned him was on page 122 where landscaping is discussed. Crum stated the document said you can't park in the front of your building, which he took to mean the front of a business. Mayor Bruce Armstrong stated this should be referring to residential buildings, not businesses. Councilperson Keith Pierce clarified page 122 paragraph I, which Crum affirmed. Crum read the paragraph and stated he interpreted it to me that if you have a business that butts up against, or is within, a residential district, no parking can occur in the front yard, and that the yard must be landscaped. City Attorney Alison McKenney-Brown clarified that the definition of front yard setback is differently defined for commercial properties and residences. Crum stated he would like the difference between commercial and residential yards clearly defined.

Councilperson Steve Crum stated the last question he had regarding the redline document. He stated the redline is based off of a December 2011 Zoning Code, but an updated Zoning Code was passed in August of 2012. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated the two documents had been merged and he was double-checking them for accuracy.

Councilperson Bob Rardin had a question regarding the requirements for all-weather surfaces. He stated the proposed Zoning Code appeared to read as though residential properties would be required to have the same parameters for their all-weather surfaces as commercial properties have. Rardin stated that if that were the case, most generally people would have to have the work done by a contractor. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated the City's Engineer, Professional Engineering Consultants, had been consulted regarding the matter. In addition, McHatton looked at examples from three other cities and the standards for commercial properties is more intense than what they are asking to change for residences. Rardin asked if homes would be required to come up to code. McHatton stated existing homes would be grandfathered in, and therefore not required to come up to code. However, if a current homeowner were to do improvements, they would have to comply with updated standards.

Councilperson Steve Crum asked if the address or the homeowner were grandfathered in. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated zoning refers to property, so unless the new owners of a property did improvements, they would not have to comply.

Councilperson Keith Pierce referred to page 111, under Specific Requirements, General. He read clause regarding off-street parking in front yards, side yards, and rear yards. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated any accessory parking must have an all-weather surface and you must be able to drive from your driveway to your accessory parking on an all-weather surface. Mayor Bruce Armstrong clarified that people could still park in their back yard. McHatton agreed, but stated they would have to drive on an all-weather surface. Pierce stated the document only says easement, so if it is meant to refer to utility easements, it should specify as such. City Attorney Alison McKenney-Brown stated there may be some properties in Haysville that, due to small lot size, do not have enough room in their backyard to put an all-weather surface without infringing on an existing easement or building setback. McHatton stated the nuisance code already requires non-operable vehicles to be stored on an all-weather surface.

Councilperson Keith Pierce read wording regarding no parking in established easements. He asked if this was only referring to utility easements. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated it referred to a dedicated easement, which is any easement demarcated on the plat map. Pierce stated he is reading into this that if someone were to create an all-weather path from the back or side to the front, it has to originate in the front and connect to a hard surface in the rear. Mayor Bruce Armstrong answered in the affirmative. Pierce stated if that is the case someone would be required to expand their driveway. McHatton clarified that if someone wants to park in a back or side yard they would have to add an all-weather surface on the path in between their driveway and the rear parking area. McHatton stated Planning could be clearer in their definitions.

Councilperson Keith Pierce asked if he was confusing easements and setbacks. Planning and Community Relations Coordinator Zach McHatton stated he may be. Pierce asked if Trudo's automotive would be non-compliant. McHatton stated he pulled their plat and Trudo's is fine. Their current parking arrangement does not infringe on any easements or rights of way. Pierce asked if the rear parking at Doug's would be rendered non-compliant. Mayor Bruce Armstrong stated they would be grandfathered in so nothing would have to change. Pierce asked if Planning researched the scope of these changes and the potential number of businesses that are now conforming which would become legal non-conforming. Mayor Armstrong stated he didn't this section is not changing from what is already there. Councilperson Steve Crum referred to a building at Main and Anita which recently received a conditional use permit. He asked if that building would fall into this category. McHatton stated all of their storage areas were compliant.

Councilperson Steve Crum, asked if, regarding having an all-weather surface from a front or side yard to rear parking, someone would be required to install an all-weather surface if the vehicle in the rear yard were only being repaired and not being driven. Mayor Bruce Armstrong stated if the vehicle was inoperable, it has to be on an all-weather surface, has to be shielded, and has to be covered. Mayor Armstrong stated this was in regard to operable vehicles, as the nuisance code already has protocol in place regarding inoperable vehicles. He also clarified that an inoperable vehicle is being stored, not parked.

Councilperson Keith Pierce referred to page 180, which talks about governing body action and requirement of a 2/3 majority to override Planning's recommendations. City Attorney Alison McKenney-Brown stated everything in chapters 6 and 7 was created by state statute and is what has been followed by Planning already, but wasn't spelled out completely. McKenney-Brown clarified that a 2/3 majority of members of the Governing Body would be 6 votes, as mayors are members of the governing body.

Mayor Bruce Armstrong asked for additional questions. When none were presented, Mayor Armstrong offered to entertain a motion. After the motion was made and seconded, Mayor Armstrong stated advised the ordinance would be returned to Planning Commission along with minutes of this meeting so we can cover what needs to be shown to Planning Commission that the Council would like to have discussed.
